

LETTER FROM THE CEO & FOUNDER

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the Construction Angels charity and our entire construction industry, we appreciate you taking the time to better familiarize yourself with WHY our charity exists. 2018 Bureau of Labor Statistics estimated there are 7.2 million people working in the construction industry with projected steady growth over the next 10 years. OSHA reports there are well over 5,000 work site deaths each work day in the US, over 20% are in the construction industry. Since our inception in June 2011, the Construction Angels Charity has given over $250,000 to family aid and grief counseling services to many families. We would like to give a resounding Thanks to our supporters of 'One of our Own' in the construction industry!

These workers are in dangerous surroundings and understand it is part of the job. These hard-working employees who work paycheck to paycheck are typically the main providers for the family. Without additional financial support, many of these children and spouses are left behind with bills and the feeling of emptiness. We know it is important for these families to realize their loved one played an important role in building our future here in the United States. Construction Angels shows our industry that fallen workers are not forgotten and their families will continue to be supported through generous donations.

We have made a difference throughout our supporting states we continue to grow nationally over the next 10 years. Construction Angels works very hard to spread the word through public awareness, fund-raisers and charitable programs to lower the amount of job site fatalities in the construction industry every day. Thank you to the sponsors, participants, Committee Members and Volunteer Board of Directors of our many fund-raisers and programs throughout the states. These events continue to provide adequate funds for our cause, safety awareness, our Employee Payroll Deduction and The Construction Angels "Gibbs Family" Scholarship Program. However, there are many ways to help, and becoming a National Sponsor is one way that will help your company be recognized! By supporting Construction Angels as a national sponsor, you will be showing these millions of workers that you understand the dangerous industry they work in & care about them & their families. We need the help from generous & caring companies like yours to help these many families.

As a potential donor who may choose Construction Angels as their premier partner for community investing, we welcome you to join us in and strengthen our message, safety and industry commitment to help our construction families when they are in need. There are many charities that help members of our community, and we would be honored if you chose ours. We look forward to hearing back from you!

Sincerely,
